

interference (in analysis)

A systematic error in the measure of a signal caused by the presence of concomitants in a sample.

1983, 55, 554