

plasma desorption ionization (in mass spectrometry)

The ionization of any species by interaction with heavy particles (which may be ions or neutral atoms) formed as a result of the fission of a suitable nuclide adjacent to a target supporting the sample.

1991, 63, 1548