

aerogel

A gel is a colloidal system with a finite, rather small, yield stress. The term aerogel is used when the openness of the structure is largely maintained.

1972, 31, 606